| Date: Feb 10, 2015 (Updated) | Subject: Performance and Talent Management Enhancements |

Suggested Audience:

Human resource offices and hiring managers

Details:

Enhancements are being made to the Performance and Talent Management module in People First to improve the user experience and provide a more modern design style. The system enhancements will be implemented on Feb. 22, 2015, and include the following:

Look and Feel Changes

Minor changes, with minimal impact, will be made to the look and feel of the system.

- Icons that represent specific areas or activities will be updated but will remain in the same location. The main updates to icons are in the About Me section and the primary navigation menu.
- The primary navigation menu will be located to the right of the home icon in the header.
- The logoff option (currently displayed as text) will be replaced with an icon and will continue to be located on the far right side of the header.
- When viewing a requisition with a large number of applicants, users will have the option to select a specific page rather than only being able to navigate from the current page to the next page.

Applicant Sorting by Last Name

The current defect that does not allow the applicant grid to be sorted by applicant last name will be corrected.
